Jump Rope for Heart Event Features Professional Jump Roper

On Jan. 27, Holley Elementary students attended an assembly to kick off the Jump Rope for Heart fundraiser for the American Heart Association. The assembly featured guest performer Rene Bibaud demonstrating her professional jump roping skills. She is a five-time world jump rope champion, ESPN commentator and former performer with Cirque du Soleil. She tours the country as a motivational speaker, leading school assemblies on the art of jump roping.

Bibaud told the story of how she wanted to join her school's jump rope team when she was in fifth grade, but she didn't qualify that year. Her goal was to make the team the next year, so she began practicing jump roping regularly, following the motto of "If I mess up, I pick up and keep on trying." She made the team in sixth grade and has been jump roping for 37 years. "I learned that if I give my best effort, work at my own pace, and make mistakes, but keep on trying, I will be successful," said Bibaud. She set a record of jumping rope 756 times in two minutes. Bibaud showed a clip of her performance with Cirque du Soleil to students. She then demonstrated her ability to do a jump rope/dance routine.

Bibaud selected three students from the audience and taught them how to jump rope. She also taught them a few jump rope tricks. Within a few minutes, all students were successful. She selected a new group of students and went down the line, jumping rope with each of them. She taught a few students how to double-dutch jump rope, including Sixth Grade Teacher Melanie Montague. Bibaud thanked the students, faculty and staff for their participation and attention during the assembly. One student answered back, "You are welcome; you were awesome!"

Bibaud also performed at the family Jump Rope for Heart event on Jan. 28. Holley has raised over $250,000 in the 33 years they have participated in the event.

Superintendent's Message

Preparing the 17-18 School Budget

Shortly after the holidays in January, school districts begin working on next year's budget to be voted on by the community in May. Technically, the budget in any public school district belongs to the Board of Education, and the Board charges both the Superintendent and Business Official with the development of the budget within the parameters established by the Board. To be very frank with you, the development of the budget is the easiest of the financial tasks, as the tax cap and the State's allocation of state aid to public schools has removed a great deal of latitude that public school districts had in the past, making the development of the budget a more concrete task. The real work lies in the proper management of the budget.

Anyone who has grappled with part of, or an entire, school budget can attest to the fact that there are many similarities to the business world. We must balance our books, pay our staff, and remain constantly aware of the needs of our infrastructure. Fortunately for our District, and thanks to the approval of our community, our recent capital projects have provided our District with one of the finest school campuses in Western New York. Our task is now to maintain what we have developed.

Our success is determined by our students and staff who embody our true purpose: preparing our students to meet the challenges of the world and times ahead of them. With your help, we have and will continue to concentrate on this very important task. On behalf of the Board of Education, and the students and staff of our school District, I thank you for the support and cooperation that you have given to the District. We could never accomplish our objectives without your help. Please continue to do so, and do not hesitate to contact us if we can ever be of assistance. You are welcome to visit our schools often, as they are also your schools. Observe the fine work that is going on each day and take a moment to meet our students - Holley students are the greatest!

Robert C. D'Angelo
Superintendent of Schools

Our District's Mission
We, the students, parents, staff and community of the Holley Central School District, will work together to provide the opportunity and means for all students to acquire the skills, knowledge and attitudes to become responsible and productive citizens in a diverse and changing society. The ideal is to instill a passion for lifelong learning.

Students of the Month for January

Holley Central Schools recognizes Students of the Month in grades K-12. Elementary students are nominated from each classroom, and middle and high school students are nominated in each subject area, all on a monthly basis. Each student receives a certificate with their photo on it and the nomination from their teacher written on it. The certificates are also displayed in the glass display case outside the MS/HS Library and then filed in a binder in the MS/HS Main Office. Pictures of the elementary students are displayed in the hallway near the Elementary Library and archived in a binder in the library.

Once each month, students of the month from grades K-12 have breakfast together with the principals in the Elementary Café or MS/HS Dining Hall (location rotates monthly). Breakfast is supplied by Food Service Director Vickie Scroger and her cafeteria staff.

PTSA News

A big “thank you” to all of our community members who sent in Labels for Education (Campbell’s soup) labels! Holley Elementary was entered into a drawing in the Labels for Education program, and we won $10,000! You may recall that PTSA volunteers have been collecting and sending in these labels for many years. Sadly, Labels for Education has announced that this redemption program will end in August 2017. Please continue to send in as many labels as you can by the end of this school year. Don’t forget to also send in Box Tops for Education and Tyson labels.

3-D Printer Visits Holley Elementary

by Julie Bader, School Library Media Specialist

A 3-D printer, on loan from Monroe 2–Orleans BOCES, has added a wonderful STEM activity to the Elementary Library during January and February. Students learned the basics of 3-D printing through discussion and demonstration. It was fantastic to see the interest and excitement in the air as students watched the printer print a variety of different objects. We printed Minecraft pencil toppers, Minions, animals, a Sabres hockey puck, Darth Vader and a set of checkers! Having the printer on display piqued the interest of budding scientists, as many students researched information on the printer on their own and demonstrated a newfound knowledge beyond the basics. It also exposed students to a piece of technology that is growing and changing on a monthly basis. We were truly lucky to have this amazing learning opportunity.

Family Literacy Night

by Julie Bader, School Library Media Specialist

“Holiday” Family Literacy Night was held in the ES Library on Dec. 15. Despite the heavy snows, the library was filled with fun, laughter and reading! Students and their families were invited for an evening of celebrating literacy. The evening’s activities included a read-aloud from Mrs. Claus, bookmark making, letter writing to Santa, computer fun, puzzles, games and holiday crafts. Students and parents also enjoyed hot cocoa and cookies together. Informational handouts were available on reading aloud to children. Great fun was had by all that attended.

The next Family Literacy Night, “PJ’s, Popcorn and Pages,” is scheduled for March 8 from 6:30-8 p.m. in the ES Library. Information will be sent home in early March. Please plan to spend a fun-filled evening with your child, complete with read-aloud demonstrations by Holley’s own elementary teachers!

Zach Day Signs with Gannon University to Play Football

For Holley senior Zach Day, a dream came true when he signed with Gannon University on Feb. 1 to play Division II football.

Zach has played football for Holley Middle School/High School since seventh grade, and he started playing on the varsity team mid-way through his freshman year. He played offense as a tailback or defense as a linebacker for the Holley Hawks. He was named to the Genesee Region League All-Star Second Team as a sophomore and to the First Team the last two years. As a defensive player, he had 85 tackles for the past year, with 51 of them solo, taking 5 sacks and 8 tackles for a loss. As an offensive player, he ran a total of 524 yards and had 4 touchdowns.

"I can honestly say that I don't feel anyone has had more of an impact on our program for the last three years than Zach," said Varsity Football Coach Wil Prince. "He is one of those special players that you feel privileged to have had the opportunity to coach. When I would pull him from a game due to injury, he would protest and tell me, 'But my teammates need me.' I have never met a more selfless player, always putting his team's achievements before his own. He has been a three-year starter for our team, and he has worked extremely hard on the field and in the classroom. Zach is respected by all the coaches in the county and they speak very highly of him. Opposing teams strategize how to play against him; he is a player to be reckoned with. He plays football with respect for the game and his opponents. I am extremely proud of Zach and wish him well."

"I am so proud of Zach and all that he has accomplished both on and off the field," said District Superintendent Robert D'Angelo. "I wish him continued success and have no doubt that he will become an asset to the football program at Gannon." Congratulations, Zach!

More Than a Game Cancer Fundraiser Highly Successful

On Feb. 1, at the Fourth Annual More Than a Game Fight Against Cancer Basketball Fundraiser, $4,952 was raised for the More Than a Game Foundation. This was more than twice what was collected last year. Game attendees wore lavender to support all cancers and participated in basket raffles, 50/50 drawings and a grand prize raffle.

JV and Varsity Girls' Basketball team members appeared on "Good Day Rochester" on Fox Rochester (WUHF-TV Channel 31) Wednesday morning to promote the event. Abrianna Kruger, Abigail Williams, Jade Simons, Hayley Rowley, Veronica Mendoza and Claudia Drechsel were interviewed by anchor Jennifer Johnson.

Holley Athletic Director Dan Courtney was proud of the team for their efforts again this year. "Coach Mark Thomas and the girls did a great job obtaining donations from the community and local businesses, and many individuals have been very generous to us," said Courtney. "It was a great opportunity for our girls to give back and learn there is more to life than basketball. We hope to take a group of players to Golisano Children's Hospital so they can see where their hard work and donations are going."

JV Girls' Basketball Coach Mark Thomas was really pleased with this year's event. "What an incredible testament to Holley and the surrounding community," said Thomas. "Thank you to everyone who came out and supported this fundraiser. Everyone should be proud. We are Holley Strong!"

An additional $690 was raised for Holley staff member Tyanna Lutes, who is currently undergoing a battle with cancer. Supporters of Lutes donated money, signed their names on a banner and left messages for their loved ones who have fought cancer.

Combined Wrestling Team Has Successful Season

The Holley-Kendall Wrestling Team won the Genesee Region League championship and was undefeated in dual meets this season.

Hawk Talks

by The Humanities Class

On Friday, Jan. 20, students in the Humanities Class presented "Hawk Talks" to a panel of school officials and community members. Modeled after TED Talks, which are short, influential presentations from experts on a wide range of subjects and viewable on the Internet, the Hawk Talks served as Humanities students' final projects for the semester. The presentations illustrated students' exploration of ideas in two different fields: innovation and social issues.

To demonstrate innovation, two groups presented possible new products. The Umbrella-Pack was explained by presenters Chris Balys, Zach Day, Derek McArthur, Nick Merlau and Dylan McKay. It is a multi-functional backpack that doubles as both a backpack and an umbrella. The umbrella is attached to the backpack and folds down easily. It would provide a hands-free, dry or sun-protected day out for any user. For those who are frustrated with the grocery shopping experience, the Convenient Cart could be right up their aisle. Presented by Julianna Drewry, Helana McLean and Alexis Milazzo, this grocery cart would automatically scan items as they are put into the cart, tallying the grocery bill as consumers shop. There would also be an app that allows shoppers to connect to the cart itself and load or share coupons and recipes.

The next three groups presented social issues that are important to them. Hannah Ellsmore, Corinne Johnson, Katharina Reisenbauer and Kayla Thrower encouraged everyone to think outside the box when it comes to education and who fits where. Just because society dictates where students should fit and the paths they should take does not mean that they shouldn't continue to strive to create their own paths. To piggyback on that idea, Hannah Day and Angela Weaver asked the question: "Are we being set up to fail?" They discussed the different influences students have on them, from infancy and early childhood to high school. They also talked about the price of college and the bigger societal price that is potentially paid when loans cannot be paid back. This group also touched on the Governor's proposed free SUNY college education idea. The final group of Isaiah Flow, Trent Osborne, Collin Papaj and Nick Smith discussed how important it is to have room for discovery and creativity in today's classrooms. With an emphasis on state testing, the students wanted to make sure that authentic learning stays in the foreground, and it is not lost among scores and report cards.

The community panel was made up of Eileen Banker, a representative from Assemblyman Hawley's office; Principal Susan Cory; Assistant Principal Dan Courtney; Superintendent Robert D'Angelo; Attorney Doug Heath; Monroe 2-Orleans BOCES Communications Specialist Beth Nash; and Board of Education President Brenda Swanger. The Humanities Class is an elective class offered to juniors and seniors that gives students an opportunity to explore different aspects of culture and the various ways that people document and record the human experience. It is co-taught by Mike Crissman and Suzanne Lepkowski.
